UP WE GO—Where the price-wage spiral will end is the big question the nation is asking following the announcement by U.S. Steel of a $6 per ton increase in steel prices. The boost, effective July 1, coincides with the date of an automatic pay rise for steelworkers under the contract signed last August. The increase, which will put the nation's steel bill by more than half a billion dollars, has set off a reaction that may lead to a congressional investigation of the industry. Other producers are expected to follow U.S. Steel's lead. Graph above shows the course of steel prices since 1951. Data from Steel Magazine, based on Bureau of Labor Statistics figures.

Foreign Aid Cut By $600 Million

House Group To End Work On Bill Monday

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio) said today the House Foreign Affairs Committee cut "too close for comfort" in voting to trim 600 million dollars from foreign aid requests.

But Chairman Gordon (D-Ill.) said "I don't think the present cuts will harm the program." The committee expects to complete work Monday on President Eisenhower's request for a $3,865,000,000 foreign aid program for the fiscal year starting July 1. The cuts from that amount voted Friday were 400 millions deeper than the Senate had gone on the same items.

The group pared 400 millions from the $1,900,000,000 Eisenhower asked for arms aid next year and 200 millions from the 900 million he sought for "defense support," which is economic aid to buttress defense systems of America's allies.

The committee also turned down key portions of requested long-term aid authority which Eisenhower said should be adopted to allow sounder long-range planning for the complicated overseas assistance program.

Vorys noted in an interview that Congress last year knocked about $1,200,000,000 off the $4,900,000,000 which Eisenhower sought. But this year, Vorys said, the administration came in with a request already a billion dollars lower and the 600 million dollar cutback would be relatively more serious. "It's too close for comfort, both for military aid and for defense support," he said.

By way of long-term authority, Eisenhower wanted permanent authorization for a military and defense support program without fixed ceilings and a three-year, two billion dollar economic development loan fund for which 500 million dollars would be provided the first year.

The committee instead: 1. Voted for a no-ceilings authorization for military aid for just one future fiscal year, starting July 1, 1958, so next year's arms aid request could be included in the regular defense budget.

2. Rejected completely an authorization for defense support beyond the coming 12-month period.

3. Approved for the loan development fund only the 500 million dollars Eisenhower asked for the first year, leaving out authority for the 1 1/2 billions he sought for the following two years.

Reports No Fireworks Exploded In County

LISBON — Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan reported today that his office has had no reports of fireworks being set off illegally so far this year.

The Ohio Code forbids the retail sale of, and the igniting or exploding of, any "fireworks," except for organized display purposes subject to the approval of the fire chief or county sheriff.

To date two applications have been filed with the sheriff for permission to set off fireworks July 4. Applications were filed on behalf of Lake Seaview, southwest of Salem, and the Salem Drive-in Theatre.

Dog Foils Plot To Murder Tavern Owner

CHICAGO (AP)—A dog foiled a plot to murder a Lyons, Ill., tavern owner, and the intended victim killed one of his assassins this morning.

Brookfield Police Chief Walter Griffin said the dog, Princess, "saved her master's life," when she began to growl at William Bates, 56, of Brookfield, near his car parked in front of his home.

Griffin said the dog's warning caused Bates, who owns the Rivista tavern in Lyons, to draw his gun. When Bates opened the car door, the dog jumped in causing a man hiding in the rear seat to fire at the dog. That gave Bates a chance to shoot the unidentified gunman through the head.

Two other men rushed out of their nearby parked car with guns blazing. Griffin said the dog rushed them, again giving Bates the opportunity to defend himself. The men retreated and fled in their car.

Bates escaped with a bullet in his left elbow and superficial bullet wounds on his left little finger and back.

Griffin said at least a dozen shots were fired in the action that took over 30 to 35 seconds. Bates was issued a gun permit six months ago. He was unable to identify any of his assailants.

Ohio Farmers May Get Aid

New Bill Would Ease Wheat Restrictions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress appears to be in a mood to make concessions to Ohio farmers complaining about restrictions on wheat grown for farm use only.

For years, several Ohio congressmen have been plugging for legislation that would let a farmer grow all the wheat he wants so long as he uses it for feed or seed on his farm.

Farmers can't do that now without running into trouble with the Agriculture Department. If a farmer puts over 15 acres in wheat, he is subject to government controls.

Several hundred Ohio farmers who refused to submit to penalties for growing too much wheat have been taken into Federal Court and fined.

Now there is a good chance that before Congress goes home a law will be enacted to give these farmers at least part of what they want.

It probably won't be all they have asked for—namely, complete freedom to raise unlimited quantities of wheat for feed or seed or even food.

The Senate already has passed a bill to do just about that, including a provision for refunding some penalties paid on 1954, 1955 and 1956 overproduction.

In the House version, still in committee, the concessions are not nearly so sweeping. It would let farmers grow wheat for farm use only up to 30 acres with unlimited production of this type permitted only to state and charitable institutions.

Two Ohio farmers backing the legislation — John G. Woods and Valoris Tidswell, both of Richland County — were on Capitol Hill just the other day to state their case.

But they spent most of their time before a House agriculture subcommittee complaining about the whole program of government controls for farmers.

Woods, president of the National Federation of Independent Farm Organizations in Mansfield, called the program "socialistic."

Tidswell, of The Associated Farmers, contended that D. T. Herriman, who he identified as Ohio state administrative officer, had drawn a curtain of secrecy over the records of local committees showing farm allotments.

This, of course, is pretty far from the feed or seed legislation. On this point, Rep. John E. Henderson, a Republican from Southeast Ohio, said he had hoped for a bill that would remove all restrictions.

Storm Dumps Over Inch Of Rain In District

Many Basements In City Flooded; June Precipitation: 4.62

Winds and rains from waning Hurricane Audrey whip-lashed the Columbiana and Mahoning County district Friday night, but, aside from a number of flooded basements, no particular damage was noted.

Total rainfall measured from 1.55 inches to 2.20 inches.

Edwin Copeland of Millport, the U.S. cooperative weather observer in southern Columbiana County, said last night's torrential rain measured 1.20 inches between 7 and 10 o'clock. Earlier in the day .35 of an inch of rain was recorded.

In Salem the city sewage treatment plant noted that total precipitation from noon yesterday to this morning was 2.20 inches.

The winds were more severe in the East Liverpool area last night as the hurricane, which caused so much damage in Louisiana, veered northeastward, blowing itself out. Trees were uprooted in East Liverpool and power and telephone poles were downed.

The sheriff's office was called after a tree fell over on Route 39 and 164 north of Salineville.

Storm water flooded the intersection of E. State St. and Lincoln Ave. again last night.

Total rainfall for all of last week, Observer Copeland said, was 2.10 inches. This helped to give the month of June a total precipitation of 4.62 inches.

The wettest June on record was in 1920 when rainfall measured 7.54 inches. Copeland's records show June, 1913, was the driest in history with only .72 of an inch.

The highreading of last month was 93 on June 16, Copeland added, and the coolest was 44 on June 3.

East German Gets 2-Year Prison Term

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Fritz Franz Werner, 52, a native of East Germany who told newsmen he fled that land, will have to spend two years in a United States prison.

Werner was sentenced Friday to two years in a federal penitentiary after he pleaded guilty to stealing a car in Pittsburgh and driving it to Columbus.

Federal Judge Mell G. Underwood said he would suspend sentence if the Immigration Service enters the case and Werner "can be deported somewhere."

Werner, who entered the United States illegally, was in trouble with immigration authorities when he left New York City to travel west.

His only partially verified story was that he escaped from a sentence in East Germany's Russian-controlled coal mines in late 1955 after the East German army scheduled his induction. He said he worked for the U.S. Army as a mechanic in West Germany and had served in the Foreign Legion.

In January, he stowed away aboard a Dutch liner and entered the U.S.A. illegally. Immigration officers arrested him, but released him on unsupervised parole. The car he is charged with stealing in Pittsburgh broke down west of Columbus.

Press Hunt For Bandit Who Kidnaped Deputy

MADERA, Calif. (AP)—Stymied authorities traced central California highways and byways today for a sheriff's car carrying an armed bandit and the deputy he kidnapped from the county jail.

Twice Deputy Harry Haring, 30, radioed the sheriff's office to beg highway patrol and police cars to "get off my tail." He said James F. Goldman, 38, had threatened to shoot.

Sheriff Marlin Young had check points set up throughout this rich farming area—on main highways as well as a multitude of side roads—but he acknowledged that for the present "all we can do is observe."

A note apparently written by Haring and dropped off at a drive-in near Newman in adjoining Stanislaus County turned out to be a ruse by Goldman. It said the pair was traveling south, but a Stanislaus sheriff's deputy reported the 1955 gray Chevrolet, with Haring at the wheel, headed west toward the coast.

Young and Sheriff Melvin Willmirth of Fresno County were in a small plane attempting to follow the car.

Goldman and Haring cannot hear the search messages and plans worked on Fresno and California highway patrol frequencies. The merced sheriff's radio is on a different frequency.

Press Hunt For Bandit Who Kidnaped Deputy

Haring was kidnapped in a wild scene shortly after midnight after bringing Goldman, a Sacramento, Calif., ex-convict in for questioning.

Goldman was permitted to go to the restroom and flashed a snubnose revolver when he came out. He lined jailers William North, C. D. Fuller and Harry Thomas against the wall along with Haring.

North, who was going off shift, dived out the front door and ran to a police car. Goldman and Haring—a gun in his ribs—went out the back door and into the deputy's vehicle.

Patrolman Clyde Aguirre had a sawed-off shotgun on the car but didn't shoot for fear of hitting the officer.

No one knew whether Haring had searched Goldman when he picked him up about midnight east of here. He was brought in for questioning in connection with several brushes with the law in Fresno, 22 miles to the south.

Haring found a car Friday about 25 miles east of here which Goldman reportedly had stolen in Fresno.

Police there said he held up a drug store of $10 after asking for narcotics. A few minutes later he was stopped by a police motor patrolman, drew his gun first, and made off with the policeman's car.

Richard Skelton Fatally Ill Of Leukemia

Actor Shows Doomed Son World's Wonders

WASHINGTON (AP)—If comedian Richard Skelton has his way, his nine-year-old son, Richard, will see as many of the "wonders of the world" in the next few weeks as many people see in a full lifetime.

Richard has leukemia, a blood disease that usually is fatal.

The Skeltons are in the midst of a five-day sightseeing tour of the capital. They've already been to New York, Philadelphia, and Boston. And Skelton said they'll head later for London, Rome and perhaps other faraway places. Richard's sister, Valentina, 10, is traveling with them.

The comedian, minus his usually broad grin, said he wants to help Richard pack a lot of experiences into a limited time. Skelton asked a newsmen:

"In what better way could I do it than show him the wonders of the world, the miracles and near-miracles, all the places he's heard of but has never seen?"

Skelton said he also hopes while in Washington to help out in the drive for cancer funds.

The Skeltons already have done much and seen much.

In New York, they drove a train through the Grand Central yards, ran an elevator high up in the Empire State Building, climbed to the top of the Statue of Liberty, visited St. Patrick's Cathedral and went to Radio City.

In Philadelphia, they stood in Independence Hall and viewed the Liberty Bell.

In New England, they boarded the Mayflower II and saw Plymouth Rock.

While in Washington, they plan to sit on House and Senate sessions, to stop in at the White House, to stroll through the Smithsonian Institution, and to cross into nearby Virginia to see George Washington's home at Mount Vernon.

Richard had one special request—to see the Washington Monument. He spoke of it as "the monument with all the steps and the little red lights on top." The lights are there as a warning to low-flying planes.

Nickerson and others have given considerable testimony on what they said is the Air Force's effort to take over the Army's long range ballistic missile program.

In testimony Friday, Nickerson said he believed the Air Force would accept an inferior ballistic missile before it would buy what he termed the Army's better one.

"Their basic interests, the future they're seeking for themselves is outlined by the money and jobs they expect to get in the aircraft industry," Nickerson testified. "This is especially true in the Air Force."

HEAD-ON CRASH FATAL

MEDINA, Ohio (AP)—A head-on collision during a heavy rainstorm on U. S. 42, five miles south of here Friday, killed Kenneth W. Lentz, 26, Lodi, Herman Edwards, 26, Lodi, and a car Friday about 25 miles east of here which Goldman reportedly had stolen in Fresno.

Police there said he held up a drug store of $10 after asking for narcotics. A few minutes later he was stopped by a police motor patrolman, drew his gun first, and made off with the policeman's car.

Ebb Tide Bears Many Bodies Out To Sea

Red Cross Cares For 40,000; Pestilence Threatens Flood Area

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP)—Horror-numbered rescue workers reported 50 more bodies in isolated southwestern Louisiana a coast areas today. They said the death toll from Hurricane Audrey would soar far past the official count of 120.

Maj. Joe Carroll of Lake Charles AFB, who directed helicopter rescues at Grand Cheniere, told The Associated Press his "copters were bringing in about 50 bodies from the Grand Cheniere area."

He added to AP newsmen Stanley Meisler:

Many Bodies Under Debris
"There are hundreds of more bodies floating under the debris. As an example, in one attic we couldn't reach by helicopter, we understand there are 17 dead people."

But, the official toll stands at an estimate of 120, made by Maj. Gen. Raymond Hufft, state civil defense director. Hufft apparently based his estimate on 53 known dead at the town of Cameron and on his expectation that one-third of 150 persons known to be missing actually are dead.

While the grisly business of counting bodies went on in the chewed-up area, a sullen, corpse-laden ebb tide swept back into the Gulf of Mexico, bearing seaward many victims of the 20-foot tidal wave that swept the beaches and the marshes Thursday.

Hundreds were injured as a raging wall of water came out of the Gulf Thursday on the heels of Hurricane Audrey, the season's first.

Hundreds of others still clung to debris or huddled in forlorn terror on any prominence that offered refuge from the murky horror of the flood waters. A huge armada of helicopters and surface craft moved back and forth over the devastated area on the biggest rescue mission in recent gulf coast history.

The Red Cross was caring for 40,000 persons made homeless in Texas and Louisiana.

Damage estimates were out of the question, but they will be staggering.

Spokesmen for various oil companies said damage to off-shore rigs would reach $15 million "and that would be a conservative guess." One herd of 30,000 Brahman-bred cattle was lost and Sheriff Jack Moss at Abbeville said its value "is easily in the millions."

Not a home in Lake Charles escaped without some damage, in addition to the far-flung devastation at Cameron, Pecan Island and Holly Beach, leveled by the gulf storm.

"You can hardly tell where the beach leaves off and the land begins," said reporter Bill Mertana of the Lake Charles American Press who flew over the devastated area.

President Eisenhower sent Val Peterson, former head of civil defense, into the area. Peterson pledged "all the resources of the American government in this emergency."

Pestilence, the invisible handmaiden of widespread death, threatened the waterlogged land. Tens of thousands of dead cattle and wild animals lay bloating in the hot sun and oppressive humidity that followed the 105-mile wind of the hurricane.

Little Pecan Island was crawling with tiny toad frogs and snakes washed inland by the savagely swirling sea water.

The hurricane moved inland

Bible Words for Today

MATTHEW 6:26 - "Look at the birds of the air; they neither sow nor reap nor gather into barns, and yet your heavenly Father feeds them." (RSV)

For a number of years the tall brick chimney of our church has been the summer roosting place of a flock of swallows. These birds leave the area during the middle of September and migrate southward. However, when spring comes they return on schedule during the middle of April. They leave the chimney at daybreak and come back at dusk each day. Their happy song, "tsip-tsip-tsee-tsee" can be heard as they fly through the air catching various insects. They do nothing to provide a home nor food, yet when they return both are here. The birds also do a great good in the matter of insect control.

In his reference to birds, Jesus revealed his keen awareness of the ways of nature. The important lesson He taught was that the ways of Nature are God's ways. If we, like Jesus, would watch for opportunities to trace the goodness of God through all the happenings around us, surely our faith would be strengthened.

Confident Living

Color Your Thoughts, Brighten Your Life

Last summer, when I was traveling in Europe with my family, we went to the opera in Paris. My wife is a real music lover and I, though not so discriminating, found that the opera of the evening was really wonderful.

But after the first act the man next to me introduced himself and we spent the intermission talking. He was a psychologist, and our conversation was so interesting that I almost felt annoyed when the intermission ended and the music started again. But we continued our conversation during the second intermission, and this psychologist gave me an interesting thought which I want to share with you.

It seemed that my opera acquaintance was making an investigation of the effect of color on the human spirit. He was about to conclude, after a long series of experiments, that tension, blood pressure, and heart action resulting from anxiety, can apparently be helpfully affected by a proper use of the primary color blue.

FOR CENTURIES blue has been associated with depression and gloom, but these experiments tend to show that in some patients blood pressure has been reduced from 10 to 12 points by the quieting atmosphere of diffused blue light.

I feel there may indeed be something to this, for when I was in Stockholm recently I became fascinated by the "Blue Twilight" characteristic of that city. It is created through the effect of the Midnight Sun and is an amazingly blue half-light. I found myself greatly uplifted by it and felt a strange sense of peace.

Later, at Chartres, in France, I talked with the man who repairs the famous windows of the ancient Cathedral there. He told me that the one color in the stained glass windows which has not disintegrated under the force of the elements is the blue created by the medieval craftsmen. He thought that a reason Chartres is so stimulating to the human spirit is because of the deep blues through which the soft and ethereal light filters into the huge church.

I AM NO AUTHORITY on color or its effects, but I have observed that a coloration of the mind by the pure reflection of faith can bring peace and health by driving off anxiety, resentment, and other agitators of the spirit. To color the mind, simply fill the mind with thoughts of God, with thoughts of faith, of love and goodness. You can make the color of the mind strong and peaceful by daily prayer, for prayer itself is a manner of thought.

You can pray your mind into good health and peace. Thoughts of this color can create in the mind a powerful attitude toward life in which anxiety and stress and ill will have no place.

Marcus Aurelius, a great Roman philosopher, reminded us that, "The soul is dyed the color of its thoughts." So, the thoughts which motivate you make you either happy or sad, a failure or a success, weak or strong. You can do anything with your thoughts. You can determine the color of your mind. If you muster strength of character and are willing to pay the disciplinary price, you can eliminate wrong thoughts by thinking in terms of faith so constantly that your whole life and outlook will be colored by it.

TRY THIS SIMPLE FORMULA for coloring your thoughts with faith: 1. Read the Bible every day. 2. Make it a habit to think good thoughts. 3. Attend services of worship regularly. 4. Do good to others. 5. Live near to God in your thinking and acting.

Color your thoughts in this fashion and you will greatly brighten your life and that of others as well.

"THEY WOODS AND TEMPLED HILLS..."

Samuel Francis Smith was a student at Andover Theological Seminary when he wrote "My country, 'tis of thee." That was in 1832, two years before he was ordained a minister.

"America" never became our national anthem—probably because it is sung to the tune of the British anthem, "God Save the King." But it has remained one of our greatest hymns, its words familiar to almost every American. In a simple, moving way it seems to express both the spirit of our nation and the faith of our churches. And in its stirring climax, addressed to the Author of Liberty, these become one.

Samuel Francis Smith, with other great Americans, taught us to seek our national welfare in constant religious devotion. He saw no denial of America's freedom—but rather its fulfillment—in the humble acknowledgment:

GREAT GOD, OUR KING!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Boo The Umpire

Nothing could be further from the truth than the claim that the U.S. Supreme Court should stay in step with the executive and legislative departments.

In the first place, the other two departments of the government are rarely in step. The Supreme Court's indispensable role is to bring their differences of opinion to a head and get them settled.

Inevitably, when this happens, the justices of the court find themselves in the middle. They are accused of bad faith and worse. They are charged with the familiar crime of reading into the law interpretations which the makers of the laws did not put there.

Their critics point out bitterly that they have arrogated power to themselves they do not have under the constitutional laws they are charged with interpreting. They are accused of climbing down off the high bench to meddle in matters that are beneath them, such as sociology and economics.

But the strange thing about all the accusations, charges and allegations which are intended to belittle them is that they all have been heard before — many times.

That is the way it has been from the beginning of the republic.
The Supreme Court is no nearer perfect than the executive and legislative departments. It does its work, when it is working best, in an atmosphere of clashing opinions. But it, too, is subject to correction when it makes mistakes. This is the way the United States is governed. This is the way it was designed to be governed.

When Americans boo the umpire, it does not necessarily mean the umpire is wrong, or that his motives are questionable. It means he has intervened in a clash of opinions that has to be settled so the game can go on.

The Supreme Court in the session coming to a close has tried to settle an unusually large number of issues that someone, somehow, sometime had to settle. The measure of its success may very well be the bitterness of the accusations that it has failed utterly and should be cast into outer darkness.

Equality Of Opportunity

Gov. O'Neill's recent remarks on higher education have included a phrase that deserves to be backed up with details.

When he speaks of "equality of educational opportunity" for students continuing their education beyond the high - school level, the governor has in mind a vast extension of state-supported college facilities in Ohio.

This would be made possible by the continuation of a program already in effect, whereby off - campus students would earn college credits by attending branch institutions, as well as by expansion of on-campus facilities.

There can be no valid difference of opinion with the governor or with the administrators and educators who want to increase the availability of higher education.

But eventually there will have to be an agreed-on financial policy of what constitutes "equality of educational opportunity" beyond the point of common-school education. The necessity for agreement will come about through financial problems that will be aggravated as optional college education competes with mandatory, common-school education for an ever - larger share of public money. This already has occurred in the use of money from the funds made available to public schools and colleges for capital improvements.

If Ohio is going to provide college education for all who seek it, a financial program should be defined by legislative enactment, in the same way that elementary and high-school financial policy has been defined in the School Foundation Act.

With Lifted Pinkie

If some kind of electronic exchange with the Soviet Union is worked out between the Kremlin and Washington, the backseat driving that has plagued the Voice of America will be intensified.

Everybody will know exactly what to beam to the supposedly gullible Russians to convert them to capitalism. On the Russian side, there will be the same certainty about the best way to convert Americans to communism.

Chances are, moreover, that the Russians will be tempted to make the same mistake that many Americans will be tempted to make. They will want to go highbrow. They, too, will want to bear down hard on their cultural aspects, at the cost of skipping the things Americans would like to know.

Fortunately, Americans have learned there are not many foreigners who can be held spell-bound with the lifted pinkie and the clatter of teacups. They have learned about the appeal of popular music, horse operas and the down-to-earth appeal of the common clasp.

But whether or not the hotshots in charge of radio and television exchanges would be smart enough to take advantage of what is known would be an open question until closed by proof to the contrary. The urge to put on airs to make a good impression is always stronger than the urge to be natural.

In The Customer's Best Interest

A small group of men were discussing recently some of their experiences in order to adhere to a strict standard of business ethics, and how they meet head-on certain practices which are contrary to their accepted religious beliefs.

For example, the president of a company told of a case in which he could have taken advantage of a costly error on the part of the seller of a piece of property, but, instead, pointed out the error to the seller and permitted him to change the agreed-upon contract terms.

A sales manager reviewed an incident in which he had been offered a large order if he would return a percentage of the purchase price to one of the customer's associates. He turned down the order.

A MANUFACTURER who supplies a widely known line of confections to retail stores throughout the country referred to his company's policy of replacing all old and outdated merchandise on dealer's shelves with fresh, newly made products. He said his company does this to assure the buying public an honest value.

The fourth member of the group was a lawyer, a profession which deals in many instances with strife and trouble between people.

It is generally accepted that a lawyer is supposed to win the case for his client, whether the client is in the right or in the wrong.

What did the lawyer in this instance have to say to his companions? How does he represent a client's best interests, and at the same time remain true to his religious convictions, when he definitely knows his client is in the wrong?

He cited two specific cases to explain his approach to this problem. One was a property line dispute between the owners of two adjoining properties. His client was the defendant.

HE CALLED the interested parties to his office and admitted that his client was in the wrong. He stated that a long, expensive law suit from which he would make a sizable fee would be unfair to both parties.

He told them he thought his client should make a reasonable payment to cover damages, and that the two property owners should once again become friendly neighbors. The case was settled on this basis.

The other case was a divorce proceeding. He sat down with the husband and wife and convinced them they were both wrong, that they should make a fresh, new start in their married life. The couple accepted his advice. There was no divorce.

"I don't earn as much money this way," he said, "but I still think I'm representing my clients' best interests. At least I know I have better clients as a result."

Bladder, Bowel Functions

All parents of small children are interested in how soon and how well their youngsters acquire control over their bladder and bowel functions.

Mrs. S. asks for a discussion of this. Another Mrs. S. wants to know whether children should be allowed to go two or three days without a bowel movement.

Before discussing the subject in general, I should say that it is probably not good for most children to go several days without normal bowel emptying. However, establishment of a laxative habit is also undesirable. So if this happens often, medical help is indicated.

A healthy baby usually begins to establish bowel control between one and two years old. When the baby is nine or 10 months old, it can be placed for short periods on the "potty." This should be done at first with the child lying down.

The "potty" should be used regularly at the same time of day, usually after the first morning meal. The mother and the baby should not be worn out by keeping it up too long.

Any child enjoys cleanliness and likes to be praised. The parents should not scold when the infant fails. Once control is established and the child is a little older, the responsibility for the bowels should be placed on the child.

In small babies the process of emptying the bladder is automatic. As soon as the bladder is stretched to a certain point, the nerves carry the message to the spinal cord and the bladder is automatically emptied.

Rather gradually, the sensation of a full bladder begins to be carried up to the brain itself. When this develops, it is possible for the child to control urination. Until the message is received in the brain, however, it is useless to expect a baby to have control over his bladder functions.

Bladder control comes slowly. Parents should not be concerned if their hopeful does not develop complete control as soon as some other child.

Sometimes a child wets during the day or night at three or four years old, or even beyond. Usually, this is a sign of either rebellion on the part of the child or a feeling of insecurity.

Sometimes such children have had the importance of keeping dry overemphasized. They take delight in frustrating their parents. When this is the reason, the parents ought to pay less attention to the whole thing and to show no signs of annoyance when "enuresis" as it is called, occurs. This is often enough to solve the problem.

Capital Economy

By DAVID BARNETT

Congressional economy fervor has wilted somewhat in Washington's heat wave.

In some cases, putting the budget-cutting ax on the shelf was in the public interest.

Example: The Food and Drug Administration will get through Congress its $9,300,000 for use in the next fiscal year. During the current fiscal year, the agency has some $6,800,000.

Practically every expert in public health agrees that the administration needs more money to protect the American people from unwittingly eating poisons and adulterated foods.

The additional funds will permit the agency to hire 162 new watchdogs.

In some cases, a little more chopping would have been in order. Example:

The House, pushed by some newspaper publicity, removed from the Defense Department appropriation bill a sentence that would have forced the Pentagon to keep open to "useless" hospitals—those at Waltham, Mass., and at Hot Springs, Ark.

The Defense Department has repeatedly expressed a desire to close the hospitals, which cost a million dollars a year to operate and have three times as many paid employees as they have patients.

The fight has now moved over to the Senate. Sen. John McClellan (D-Ark.) has already given notice that he intends to force the Pentagon to keep open the Hot Springs hospital for another year.

The Massachusetts senators are on the spot. The heat from home

Picnic season is here, when elderly men get hot dogs from trying to play ball.

For the men, why don't they add to the marriage ceremony, "Love, honor and obey," the four words, "and carry an umbrella?"

'We Proved One Thing—We Can't Go That Way'

Photographing The Moon

By JULIAN HARTT

LOS ANGELES
Eris Burgess, former chairman of the British Interplanetary Society, has revealed exciting plans here to send rockets to the moon, Mars, Venus and the sun to take "closeup" photographs and transmit them back to earth.

Now an associate of the Telecomputing Corporation in this city, Burgess contends rocketry and missile knowledge is sufficiently advanced that most of the know-how and "hardware" is now available or shortly will be to make his proposal feasible. The closest ideal date for the project would fall this Aug. 27.

His primary plan calls for a multiple - stage rocket to circle the moon, take pictures of the never-seen far side, then return close enough to earth so an impulse fired at it would trigger a facsimile transmission system before the missile sailed on into space, lost forever.

Burgess, acknowledging that many of his proposals were given impetus by the United States plan to send a satellite orbiting about the earth as part of the International Geophysical Year, estimates his moon rocket would weigh no more than 200 tons.

ITS COST, Burgess contends, would be justified by the immense number of experiments it could perform. Besides photographing the far side of the moon, for example, it could fire into the bright face of the moon a sun-powered probe instrument similar to machines used to record earthquakes.

The mother satellite then would fire a nuclear warhead missile into the moon and seismological records of the explosion, revealing the structure and nature of the moon, would be transmitted back by the probe missile and stored in the mother vehicle on tape or in a "memory drum."

Author of space travel books, Burgess's detailed plans are being prepared for "Satellites and Space Flight," to be published in August.

Burgess says his detailed calculations, even to selected firing dates, are soundly based on the advanced prospect of deep space flight resulting from developmental work for the earth satellite.

"It is now known that both the Soviets and the free world are looking beyond the satellite vehicle toward interplanetary travel," he declares. "It would appear that within five years we shall be seeing observational astronomy taking a back seat to experimental astronomy."

SUCH CLOSE views, perhaps made with a one-pound transistorized color television to store its pictures on magnetic tape, would make all but obsolete such instruments as the 20-inch mirror telescope at Mount Palomar.

While it has a range of 2 billion (B) light years into space, the telescope is handicapped, as are all other earthbound instruments, by the fact it must first peer through the earth's own murky atmosphere.

With the moon as his first goal, Burgess says rockets of like size could be sent to Mars, Venus and the sun to glean new information and transmit it to earth stations.

He calculates it would take a Mars rocket 37 weeks to reach its orbit 11,560 miles above that planet's surface. Ideal firing dates, Burgess says, would be Feb. 26, 1965, 1969 and 195, or Aug. 27 this year, 1972 or 1987.

ORBITING SUCH A satellite around Mars has additional problems, Burgess points out, because Mars has two small natural satellites of its own, Deimos and Phobos, which would exert perturbing influences on the space vehicle.

The climax of such a program, Burgess believes, would be the firing of a probe missile to investigate the outer atmosphere of the sun, in reality a giant hydrogen bomb, by putting it in an elliptical orbit so it would dip into the outer cornea of the sun.

"Probe missiles," the British expert concludes, "accordingly may find extensive use in astronomy many years before it is possible to build a manned satellite, and to establish astronomical instruments in space."

Pursuit Of Comfort

By TRUMAN TWILL

Just where the pursuit of comfort got off on the primrose path of nudity no one knows.

But come midsummer, any citizen who has retained a sense of modesty from his upbringing has to stifle the impulse to clear his throat and murmur, "Pardon me."

He is confronted with sights that would have been a scandal had they occurred in a rooming house between world wars.

What used to be a shame and a caution when a breadwinner disgraced his family and low-toned a neighborhood by sitting on his front porch in his undershirt and sock feet now is regarded as stuffy.

An innocent passerby letting his glance stray into a suburban backyard can swallow his dentures under the misapprehension that he has stumbled into a nudist camp without a visitor's pass.

An accepted part of the passing scene is the startling apparition of a naked female driving an automobile. A strong sense of logic is required to remember that the occupant must be wearing something below the waist because she may be on her way to the supermarket and must have a place to carry the shopping list. Even so she could be carrying it in her purse.

The supermarket, itself, has got into the act by encouraging its patrons to forego formality, and this has been construed by many of them as foregoing their clothing, too.

That slob who used to disgrace his family by appearing in the street-front showcase with nothing on but an undershirt now walks down the street wearing nothing but his underpants and a strong sense of privilege.

There has been no determination, moreover, of the age where the childhood privilege of wearing a carefully-tuned G-string becomes semi-adult license to make the most of a southern exposure.

All this goes on because in the pursuit of comfort anything goes. Or everything goes. Or almost everything.

It is leading up to the ultimate, which already has been reached in such advanced centers of civilization as the Australian bush country, the interior of Madagascar and the jungles of Brazil.

When it finally gets there, which threatens to be this summer, anyone who has retained a sense of modesty from a blue - stocking childhood will have to wear blinders.

It is not the body beautiful that will impinge on his sense of what should and should not be seen in public; there always has been a lively interest in the body beautiful and never has been a shortage of chances to look at it in art galleries and musical shows.

But until the pursuit of comfort got off on the primrose path of nudity, the body ugly was kept under wraps, where it belonged.

Anyone with a normal aversion to shocking sights could struggle through a lifetime without a setback if he remembered to knock on doors and whistle a tune before stepping into the hallway of a hotel with shared facilities.

He never needed to be reminded that human beings by and large are misshapen, that they lump up in the wrong places and sag in the middle, that they are bird-legged, piano-legged and badly-eroded on the runoff slopes.

But today . . . yip! Fetch the belladonna!

The Garble Sisters

"What do you think of those Supreme Court decisions?"

"I was glad to see it free Hank Bauer off the Yankees with only Justice Frankfurter dissenting. But I can't understand how the court could disagree so much over Billy Martin, Hells Canyon and the Mayflower trip."

"I think the decision in the Bauer case was correct. It was five to four for freeing Hank on the ground that if he had any idea of taking a poke at the delicatessen dealer it was only an abstract idea which he did not follow up with any personal violence."

"I WAS SURPRISED that the court ruled that James D. Norris and Arthur Wirtz couldn't stay in Madison Square Garden without violating the Constitution and would have to turn the stock over to Du Pont like General Motors."

"Chief Justice Warren lined up with Bill Douglas and Sylvester Ryan on that, but Clark and Brennan held that Norris could not be tried by a Japanese court."

"I hear that the boxing interests are asking Eisenhower to appoint to the court some man who has a deeper interest in the fight game and that he may name Gene Tunney."

"WHAT DID YOU think of the rulings in those Senate inquiry proceedings?"

"You mean in the matter of abolishing the reserve clause and giving Frank Costello back to the Sands Beach colony?"

"No. I mean the ruling that Jockey Shoemaker didn't violate the Sherman act when he misjudged the finish line in the Derby and that the steward has no right to question him without first showing him all the evidence and explaining the purpose of their inquiry."

"Oh, I guess that was all right, but why did two justices disqualify themselves in the decision that her parents were right in taking that Swedish girl, Christina Wennerstrom away from that Senate page boy after the elopement?"

"Changing the subject, did you see where the Japanese prime minister conferred with Casey Stengel on the Girard case?"

"Yes, but they will never solve the Korean problem that way. What's new in Korea?"

"Our side is sending modern weapons over there but General Panmunjom won't let Dag Hammarskjold come in to arbitrate under the Smith Act."

"It's a dizzy world."

"Ain't it the truth!"

MOST GOVERNORS attended a conference in Williamsburg, Va., the other day . . . It was really a rally of big spenders and what fun the boys had comparing notes on their extravagances and arguing over which one had the biggest budget!

We assume that when Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi of Japan watched that Yankee game he couldn't refrain from yelling, "Yank go home" when the team had a man on third and needed a run . . . Kishi speaks little English but a man who was close up when Casey Stengel put a baseball cap on him says, "I couldn't understand a thing Casey said, but Kishi seemed fairly clear."

Mike Todd and Liz Taylor are reported having hassles this early . . . Mike may come up with a new movie "Around the Airports in Eighty Domestic Flare-ups." There is even a chance Mike can now change the name of a proposed movie to "War and Liz."

Forest Preserve Classroom For Five Columbiana County Students

By ROBERT E. BASS
Brush-Moore Special Writer
TAR HOLLOW STATE PARK, Ohio — A rustic picturesque setting in a 16,000-acre state forest preserve in Ross County was the classroom for 125 students of the sixth annual Ohio Forestry training camp.

Of the 125 scholarship winners, 82 are attending under the auspices of six Ohio newspapers of the Brush-Moore Newspapers, Inc. The Brush-Moore scholarships are a memorial to the late Judge William H. Vodrey, noted conservation enthusiast, and one of the founders of the newspaper group.

Representing The Salem News and East Liverpool Review were Evelyn Ruth Wilms and Patricia June A. Stacey of Columbiana RD and two East Liverpool boys, Gilbert Simpson and Marvin Lee McKenzie.

The classroom was the 50-acre Tar Hollow State Park nestled in the center of the sprawling Tar Hollow State Forest on the Ross-Hocking county line, 15 miles east of Chillicothe.

EIGHTY-FIVE BOYS and 40 girls — all forestry scholarship winners — communed there with Mother Nature and learned the importance of conserving and managing one of her most priceless gifts — her woodlands.

They experienced at the training camp the rewards of good fellowship through healthful social and recreational activities.

Impressive candlelight vespers services in the great natural setting gave them, too, the spiritual satisfaction of quiet communion with God.

In their woodland study, the students experienced an informal but thorough approach to a popular theme of the training camp program, "Conservation Through Youth Education."

Eleven professional foresters, whose services were provided by nearly a dozen cooperating state and U.S. conservation agencies and private industries gave expert interpretation to this theme.

In the 50-acre group camp area's main lodge and its surrounding woodlands, as well as along the rambling paths of the gigantic forest itself, they taught the delegates the influence of forests on water, soil and wildlife.

SPECIFICALLY, they taught the vital "how's and why's" of good forest and watershed management, wood utilization and reforestation. The curriculum included in addition, leaf and tree identification, instruction in firearms safety and wildlife management.

Related lectures, movies and slides in the main lodge at night supplemented the study program.

The youths toured the D. B. Frampton Mill at McArthur in Vinton County, the largest sawmill in Ohio, and the U.S. Forestry Service Research Center, just south of McArthur.

THE STUDY PROGRAM was climaxed Friday with an examination in two parts — a period of tree identification in the forest, and a written test at the main lodge on technical forestry subjects.

The training camp project, sponsored annually by the Ohio Forestry Assn., Inc., was administered by a staff of persons experienced in their respective fields, as well as in the field of youth service.

The campers and their fellow students slept each night in 28 rustic cabins divided into four groups of seven cabins each.

In addition to these cabins, there's a cabin for the administrative and technical staff with a capacity of 10, and an infirmary with a capacity of eight.

The central lodge is a combined dining lodge, kitchen, recreation hall and office. It can accommodate 200 persons. When tables are removed, it serves as a large room for indoor recreation and lectures.

LEAF IDENTIFICATION has been among the projects occupying Columbiana County's delegation to the Ohio Forestry Training Camp. Taking part in this discussion are (left to right) Evelyn Wilms, Patricia Converse, June Stacey, Gilbert Simpson and Marvin McKenzie. The youngsters attended the camp under William H. Vodrey Memorial Scholarships established by Brush-Moore Newspapers, Inc. They were sponsored by the Salem News and East Liverpool Review, both Brush-Moore newspapers.

Two Injured In Traffic Accidents

Two men were injured in four road mishaps which the State Patrol investigated yesterday and early today.

Arthur Biscan, 28, of 321 W. Maple St., Lisbon, was reported in fairly good condition today in Salem City Hospital after his car struck the rear of an auto operated by Elmer Knecht, 30, of RD 5, Lisbon, on Rt. 45, two miles north of Lisbon at 2 a.m. today. The patrol cited Biscan for reckless operation. He suffered contusions of the chest and nose and was admitted for X-rays.

The hood of a car, traveling north, driven by Keith L. O'Hanlin, 33, of Kingsville snapped open and broke the windshield, causing him to hit an auto operated by Minnie M. Greer, 47, of Barberton, also going north, and then to strike another car driven by Joseph A. Orlando, 37, of RD 1, Leetonia, going south, about seven miles north of North Lima at 12:45 p.m. yesterday.

O'Hanlin complained of an injured back.

John Barnes, 39, of Medina, driving west on Rt. 62 seven miles west of Salem, was sideswiped by an eastbound auto operated by Albert Coy, 47, of Damascus at 2:55 p.m. Friday. Coy was arrested for hit and skip and driving while intoxicated.

John Medency, 39, of Marianna, Pennsylvania, while attempting to pass, saw another car approaching and swerved off the road into the culvert in order to avoid a head-on collision, seven miles south of Lisbon on Rt. 30, at 8 a.m. Friday. Medency was arrested for reckless operation.

Grocery Clerk Faces Trial In Girl's Slaying

DETROIT — Lawrence Richard Turner was ordered held for trial Friday on a charge of first degree murder in the June 12 slaying of 6-year-old Mary de Caussin.

The 50-year-old grocery clerk who has served a previous prison sentence in the rape of a Detroit woman was examined before Justice of the Peace Donald C. Neitzel in suburban Ecorse Township.

In shirt sleeves and tieless, Turner wept quietly while Ecorse Township Detective Lt. William Shaffer read a transcript of a statement Turner made in the death of the young first grader.

The trial will be held in Wayne County Circuit Court in Detroit.

Mary de Caussin disappeared the evening of June 12. Her mutilated body was found the next day in a lover's lane near her home.

Turner, who lived with relatives near the de Caussin home, was picked up for questioning in the case June 19.

Hurricane

Friday morning. It moved northward across Louisiana and on through Mississippi into Tennessee. It finally died in a gush of rain over the Ohio Valley.

Many victims lost a chance to save themselves because they had not expected it to hit before nightfall.

Others underestimated the strength of the storm. Said 80-year-old Jethro Broussard of Pecan Island:

"We didn't leave here because we didn't think it would turn out this bad. Never in my memory has a tidal wave crossed over Pecan Island."

Mrs. Dorothy Whatley, 35, spent 18 hours clinging with her husband to a tree in the Grand Cheniere area before they were rescued.

"We prayed and we talked," he said of the ordeal.

The hurricane hit Cameron Parish (County), La., almost head on, flattening about 90 per cent of its buildings. Holly Beach, a resort community west of Cameron, was all but wiped off the map.

Other hard hit towns were Big Lake, Johnson Bayou, Morris, Grand and Little Cheniere and Grand Lake. The water stood 10 feet deep in some towns after the tidal wave had spent its strength.

To the north lush acres of corn, rice, figs and oranges were ruined by the hammer blow of the hurricane itself.

The actual passage of the hurricane occasioned no immediate alarm. The death toll at first seemed moderate. But then came the refugees, singly and in groups, wet, shoeless, their only possessions the clothes on their back. With them were their children, only shorts or panties hiding their nakedness.

The adults gasped out a grim description of the wall of water that engulfed their homes and spread a mantle of death across their land. For a time thereafter it was feared the death toll might be in the thousands.

There was shock and horror and pathos etched deeply in the lines of the survivors' faces. Stephen Broussard was calmly relating details of his own escape. Suddenly his poise deserted him. He broke. He sobbed:

"I lost four kids and everything I have."

Mrs. J. B. Gibbs told of watching her husband and two sons swept to their deaths in the swirling flood waters near Cameron. She and a daughter-in-law drifted on planks to a ridge where they huddled for safety with dogs, hogs and wild animals which had also found refuge there.

REPORT HUSSEIN DIVORCED

CAIRO — Jordan's King Hussein has reportedly divorced Queen Dina. But a source close to Dina's family who reported the divorce said it was a "first degree" procedure and the couple can reunite if they want.

The source said Hussein agreed in principle to give up custody of their child, Princess Alia. They have no male heir to inherit the throne.

Hussein, 22, and Dinal, 29, were married in April 1955.

EARTH TREMORS REPORTED

SANTIAGO, Chile — Strong earth tremors were reported in Chile early today. There was no immediate word of any casualties or damage.

Schrunk Is Acquitted On Perjury Charge

PORTLAND, Ore. — Portland Mayor Terry Schrunk was acquitted Friday on a charge of perjury but he still faces a long battle to clear his name.

A State Circuit Court jury deliberated less than two hours before deciding unanimously that the 4-year-old mayor had not lied to a vice probing grand jury when he denied taking a gambler's bribe.

It is believed that the charge of bribery against Schrunk may be dropped now, but State Atty. Gen. Robert Y. Thornton, who is in charge of the prosecution of Portland's vice cases, could not be reached for comment immediately.

Three other charges, stemming from the year-long vice probe of this city of 450,000, have been filed against the mayor, accusing him of illegally copying a wiretap, conspiracy to obtain a wiretap and subornation of perjury. Trial dates for these charges have not been set.

Schrunk maintains that the accusations against him are part of a plot by gamblers who feared his election as mayor would drive them out of business. Much of the testimony presented at the 10-day trial here was a repetition of that heard in Washington, D.C., last March when the Senate committee investigated what it said was labor, racketeering in Portland.

Miss Freda Marie Thomas Is Wed To Walter L. Krauss

Attired in a lovely costume created of white satin and imported lace, Miss Freda Marie Thomas of Mooreland, Ind., became the bride of Walter L. Krauss of Salem Friday, June 21 in the Mt. Gilead Friends Church.

The bride is a daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Alva D. Thomas of Mooreland; and Krauss is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Krauss of S. Union Ave.

Harry Marshall, assistant pastor of the Salem First Friends Church, assisted Rev. Thomas as the couple exchanged their vows in the double ring ceremony.

In keeping with the traditional Friends service the couple said their own vows and after the consecration prayer, the Malone College Quartet composed of David and James Brantingham, Ronald Spaulding and John Grafton, Jr., sang "Oh Jesus We Have Promised!"

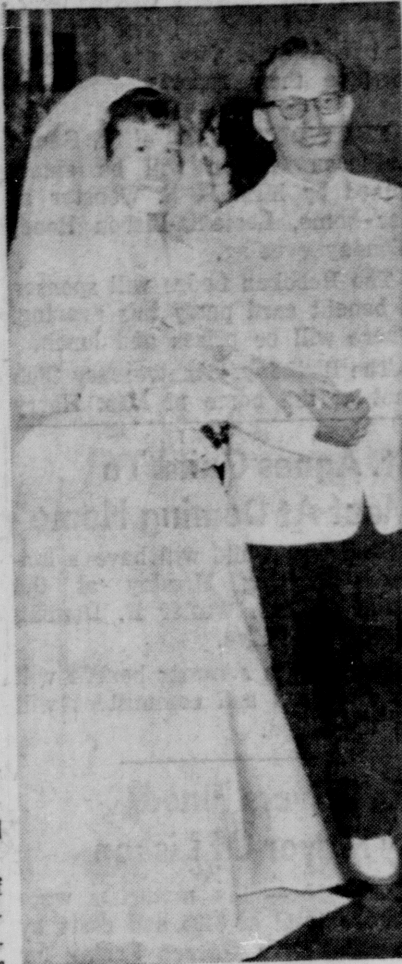

Rev. Thomas gave his daughter in marriage and during the nuptials presented the bride and bridegroom with a Bible.

Mrs. Harry Marshall, sister of the bridegroom, played the pre-nuptial melodies and also accompanied Mrs. Madeline Thomas of Cardington, sister-in-law of the bride, who sang "I Love You Truly," and "Because."

Charming simplicity characterized the altar decorations of palms and two baskets of white flowers which were lighted by white candles in tall seven-branch candelabra.

Two girls lighting the candles were Lestia Clegg of Youngstown and Martha Benedict of Marengo. Their blue formal dresses were complemented with wrist corsages of pink carnations.

The bride wore a floor-length gown which was styled with a standup collar and V-shaped neckline and long sleeves pointed at the wrists. The fitted bodice was attached to a full skirt with a chapel train. Her full length veil fell from a crown of seed pearls.

Mrs. Walter L. Krauss

She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations.

Mrs. Reid Johnson of Cleveland, formerly of Salem, matron of honor, appeared in a blue formal and carried a bouquet of yellow carnations. Miss Kathryn Williams of Cardington, maid of honor, wore an orchid formal and carried orchid tinted carnations in a cascade arrangement. Miss Ruth Rittenhouse of Adrian, Mich., was costumed in pink and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The attendants all wore headbands to match their gowns.

Wearing a white frosted organ-dress of frock over blue, Eloise Thomas of Cardington, niece of the bride, carried a basket of peony petals and sweet peas, which were strewn in the path of the bride as she walked down the aisle. A nephew of the bride, Bruce Peterson of Virginia, Minn., was ring bearer.

George Robinson of Canton served as best man and the ushers were Richard Tolson of Salem and Daniel Murphy of Cleveland. The young people in the bridal party were college associates of the couple.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Thomas chose a gray silk print dress with harmonizing accessories. Mrs. Krauss was dressed in aqua and pink with matching accessories. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

The wedding reception was held in the Mt. Gilead courthouse annex. A four-tiered wedding cake topped with a bride and bridegroom centered the refreshment table, flanked by bouquets of red roses.

Relatives and friends attended from Salem, Cleveland, Detroit, Indiana and Minnesota.

When the couple left on their honeymoon trip, the bride was wearing a pale blue suit with white accessories complemented with a white carnation corsage.

Mrs. Krauss is a graduate of Mooreland High School and Malone College. She majored in piano and received a bachelor degree in sacred music. Mr. Krauss was graduated from Salem High School and will be a junior at Malone College, Canton, this autumn. He is taking a music course and majoring in voice. Mr. Krauss will be employed by the Youngstown Kitchens Division this summer. They will reside here.

Orioles Bunt Way To 6-0 Victory Over Hapless Indians

4th Shutout Ties Record

Tribe Held To 3 Hits; Commits 6 Errors

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles bunted their way to a 6-0 victory over the Cleveland Indians Friday night and tied an American League record by posting their fourth successive shutout.

Completely upset by the bunt strategy, the Indians made six errors, five of them wild throws, for their most disappointing performance in the field this season.

While the Indians were making it easy for the Orioles, Ray Moore was limiting Cleveland batters to three hits. Joe Altobelli, Gene Woodling and pitcher Dick Tomaneck, who relieved starter Mike Garcia, singled for the Tribe.

Only three American League teams managed to string together four successive shutouts before Baltimore. The Cleveland Indians did it twice, once in 1903 and again in 1948 when they won the world championship. The New York Yankees turned the trick in 1932.

Billy O'Dell, who was knocked out of the box in the first inning in his last start against the Tribe, will try to make it five shutouts in a row when he pitches against Don Mossi in the first game of today's two-night doubleheader.

O'Dell will also be shooting for another record held by the 1948 Indians. With 41 scoreless innings, the Orioles are only six away from the Tribe's record of 47.

The Indians didn't come close to scoring in Friday night's contest. Moore gave up only two walks with the three hits and the Indians left four men stranded. Baltimore scored a run in the fourth inning on a walk, a sacrifice and two singles. The run scored on Jim Busby's single, his 10th straight game with a hit.

The roof fell in on the Indians in the sixth inning. The Orioles started to bunt and when the inning was over, four runs were home and the Indians had made three errors.

Ray Robinson Meets Basilio In September

NEW YORK (AP)—Beaten by Ray Robinson at the conference table, welterweight champion Carmen Basilio today vowed to make it up in the ring when he fights for Sugar Ray's middleweight crown this September.

The scrappy, 30-year-old ex-Marine from Canastota, N. Y., predicted he would knock out Robinson. "I can knock out anybody I can hit and I can hit Robinson," said Basilio when informed that Robinson had agreed to meet him at a New York ballpark.

The tentative dates set by James Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, were Sept. 16-17 at the Polo Grounds or Sept. 23-24 at Yankee Stadium.

In order to meet the 37-year-old Robinson's demand for 45 per cent of the gate and home television or theater-television, Basilio yielded five per cent. Carmen had signed for 25 per cent earlier but he gave up five per cent because he was so eager to get Sugar Ray in the ring.

Norris had said he couldn't give the two fighters a total of more than 65 per cent.

"I wanted to get him into the ring and I'm glad the whole thing is settled," said Basilio. "I can make it up."

Norris expressed confidence that the fight would draw $75,000 at the gate and that the TV extra million dollar gate. That would might yield another $250,000 for a bring Robinson a gross of close to $450,000 and Basilio $200,000.

Robinson, as usual, declined to predict, saying only he expected a "very tough match." He hinted he would retire again if he wins.

Bookmakers made Basilio the 7-5 favorite even though he will spot Robinson about nine pounds, 160 to 151.

Collins vs Kaiser, 6:45.
Old Dutch vs Stepanie's, 7:45.

TIPS FROM TOP — Willie Mays took some time off from batting practice to take a close look at Stan Musial's batting grip. Between the two of them, they probably came up with some correct ideas on technique. Musial, the Man of the St. Louis Cardinals, is after his seventh batting title. Mays is having one of his big years although his Giants are not.

About 100 Hear Talk By Bill Veeck

About 100 persons turned up at the Amvet Club despite the rain Friday night to hear guest speaker Bill Veeck, currently the Cleveland Indians public relations director and formerly general manager.

Veeck talked of his experiences at St. Louis and concerning the present Cleveland Indian club.

Veeck said the Indians this year are different from past Tribe teams in the respect that the long ball hitter and the great pitching are missing. The team this year, without the services of such stand-out players as Herb Score, Hal Naragon, and Jim Hegan, have to scrap for every victory they get, he said.

The fighting spirit shown by the Tribe this year has enabled them to hold third place, only five games out. At this time last year the Indians were at full strength and nine games back.

Veeck, completely relaxed throughout his talk, kept the audience enraptured, mixing adroit humor with "good baseball common sense."

Attending with Veeck was Marsh Samuels, also in the Indians public relations department.

A fish fry preceded Veeck's talk.

Nine U.S. Speedsters In Monza 500-Miler

MONZA, Italy (AP)—Nine American speedsters and three determined British pilots were primed today for the race of their lives, the Monza International 500-miler.

Ahead of them was a contest which seems certain to be the fastest race in 20 years and maybe the fastest ever. Also was a contest likely to be as hazardous as any ever driven.

However, the prospect didn't appear to bother the drivers as the starting time approached. They said they were looking forward to the battle of the asphalt straights and the concrete banks.

Behind them were the qualifying tests which saw Tony Bettenhausen, of Tinley Park, Ill., take his Novi Special around the 2.6 mile track at a speed of more than 177 miles per hour.

Other qualifying times also were high. Five other American entries — Jimmy Bryan, of Phoenix, Ariz., Pat O'Connor, of North Vernon, Ind.; Bob Veith, of Oakland, Calif.; Eddie Sachs, of Allentown, Pa.; and Andy Linden, of Speedway, Ind.—turned in times of better than 170 mph.

The remaining four Americans did better than 165 mph. They are Johnny Parsons, of Van Nuys, Calif.; Paul Russo, of St. Louis, Mo.; Ray Crawford, of Pasadena, Calif.; and Troy Ruttman, of Lynwood, Calif.

Trailing the Americans were three British Jaguars, including the two that finished one and two at the La Mans endurance race last weekend.

Cincinnati Man Wins Tourney

Leads Ohio Seniors Play By 4 Strokes

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Don W. Gill of Cincinnati, who tied for first and finished third in two previous attempts, hit the jackpot Friday. He won the 17th Ohio Seniors golf championship by four strokes.

The 56-year-old manufacturing firm president, five times a grandfather, sloshed through a heavy rainstorm to add a 74 to his opening 76 for a 150 total over Scioto Country Club's 6,662-yard par 72 course.

The near-cloudburst, which flooded greens and fairways, forced 83 of the record field of 225 to call it a day before completing the second round. Among those stranded on the course and unable to finish were defending champion Allen Rankin of Columbus, nine-time winner of the event; 1953 champion Walter Cope of Lima, and 1955 winner John Valaska of Steubenville.

All were out of the title race when the rains halted play. Rankin being six over par at the end of 14 holes after opening with a 78.

The new champion is no newcomer to the throne rooms of golf. He has been ruler of the Maketewah Club several times, goes after his fifth straight Cincinnati Seniors title in August, and twice has won the Tri-State Tournament.

John Roberts of Columbus, former National Seniors champion, with 76-78-154, finished in second place, a stroke ahead of Lima's Elbert E. Kautz, who had 75-80-155. Tied for fourth at 156 were Oral T. Carter of Cincinnati, Nick Diccio of Willowick, and R. E. Joyce of Westlake.

The tournament is limited to players 50 years and older, and the entrants ranged up to 80. Freeman Eagleson of Columbus, who is just past the four-score mark, fired an even 100 in Friday's rain for a 198 total, and 76-year-old Dr. H. D. Smith of Cadiz came in with a 91 for a 185 two-day mark, which was better than some of those in the 50-54 age bracket were able to do.

So stern has been the competition and so torrid the par-breaking pace over the first 36 holes of the $25,000 medal play test that it took a score of 144—two over par at the 6,892-yard Plum Hollow layout—to qualify for the last two rounds.

Pre-tournament favorite Sam Snead, who at 45 makes only an occasional tournament appearance, was one of the 144 shooters whose fate wasn't decided until the last threesome came off the 18th green.

Right behind Maxwell and Litterer were first-round leader Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., Ken Venturi of San Francisco, former Western Open winner Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., Bob Duden of Portland, Ore., and stocky Bob Hill of Rochester, N.Y.

"Now I want a shot at (champion) Joe Brown's title," Busso said Friday night after battering Boardman for a unanimous decision in a nationally televised slugfest.

"It means a long layoff for Larry," said father-manager Sam Boardman. "He's been in the gym since he was 14 and now it's time for a good rest."

A 13-5 underdog, Busso floored the 21-year-old Boardman in the first and third rounds for compulsory eight-counts while en route to his impressive triumph before a well-crowded 422 at Mechanics Building.

The victory was the 30th against four losses and a draw for Busso. Boardman's record is 34-5 after the three straight losses which dropped him from the No. 1 contender's rating in the lightweight division.

Edmonton, Alta.—Will Greaves, 155, Pittsburgh, stopped Jackie Headon, 159, Edmonton, 5.

Braves, Giants, Red Sox Victors

White Sox Edge Senators 4-3; Yanks Eke Win Over Athletics

The Associated Press
Hec (Skinny) Brown, Billy Loes, Connie Johnson and Ray Moore, four guys wearing "who needs 'em?" tags when they joined the Baltimore roster, suddenly have come through with a record-tying scoreless pitching streak to trigger the Orioles' big bid for the American League first division.

It was Moore's turn last night, beating third-place Cleveland 6-0 with Baltimore's third straight three-hitter as the sixth-place Birds, who have won five in a row and eight of the last 10, matched the AL mark with a fourth consecutive shutout.

Chicago and New York continued their first place deadlock with the White Sox defeating Washington 4-3 and the Yankees knocking off Kansas City 5-4. Boston replaced Detroit in fourth, beating the Tigers 9-2 to stay 2½ games ahead of Baltimore.

In that National League race, Milwaukee regained first place by a half game with a 4-2 victory over Pittsburgh as the St. Louis Cardinals skidded to second with a 4-1 defeat by the ambitious New York Giants, who now have won 13 of 17. Cincinnati clung to third, pasting Philadelphia 7-1. Brooklyn and Chicago Cubs were rained out.

Moore, a 31-year-old righthander, walked three, struck out two while gaining his fourth victory in nine decisions. Jim Busby, the ex-Injun, singled him the first run in the fourth inning.

In tying the league record set by Cleveland in 1903 — and also tied by the 1935 Yankees and 1948 Indians — the Orioles have strung together 41 shutout innings, beginning with Moore's five against Detroit Sunday. Then Brown, picked up from Oakland, beat the Tigers 6-0 with a five-hitter; Loes, an ex-Dodger, three-hit Kansas City 5-0, and Johnson, once with the White Sox, three-hit the A's 1-0.

Milwaukee took first place for a third time this season as Del Crandall backed up Warren Spahn's five-hitter with a three-run double in the third against Bob Friend, who has lost nine. Spahn, winning his eighth, struck out six and hit his 18th career home run (a record for NL pitchers).

The sixth-place Giants tagged nine-game winner Larry Jackson with a fourth defeat as Daryl Spencer rapped a two-run double in the first. Rookie Curt Barclay gained a 4-5 record with Marv Grissom's relief help as the Giants moved within three games of fifth-place Brooklyn.

The Redlegs, two points back of the Cards and also a half game out, bagged it with three home runs — a three-run shot by George Crowe, a two-run job by right-hander Hal Jeffcoat, who had three RBIs while winning his seventh with a four-hitter, and a solo blast by Gus Bell.

A pop fly single by Dick Donovan drove in a tie-breaking run in the ninth for the White Sox. Donovan won his eighth, but needed relief help. Larry Doby doubled the first three Sox runs home.

Enos Slaughter pinch-hit a single to drive in the Yankee winner with two out in the eighth after two-run homers by ex-Yankee Woody Held and Hec Lopez had given the A's a 4-4 tie. Bob Grim won his eighth in relief with Wally Burnette, replacing Virgil Trucks, the loser.

Billy Klaus rapped four hits in five trips, two of them home runs, to drive in five runs for the Red Sox as Tom Brewer won his ninth. Charlie Maxwell and Frank Bolling homered for the Tigers, who have lost eight of their last 11.

All-Star Voting Changes Loom

Reds Score Sweep Of NL Positions

NEW YORK (AP) — Sweeping changes in the selection of baseball's All-Star team loomed today in the wake of a fantastic situation that would have sent the entire Cincinnati team (excepting the pitcher) against the American League had not Commissioner Ford Frick wielded his veto power.

Some baseball officials wanted the game "given back to the managers," meaning that the 16 pilots would select the starting teams. This was tried once, but discarded because it "took the game away from the fans."

As the voting now stands, a fan can vote hundreds of times, so long as he fills out the official ballot in the newspaper that has been designated as the regional vote-counter.

Just before the voting deadline at midnight Thursday, the Cincinnati Times-Star deposited more than a half million votes in the league office. Virtually all of them named the entire Cincinnati line up.

Frick acted quickly Friday. He dumped first baseman George Crowe, center fielder Gus Bell and right fielder Wally Post. In their places he named, respectively, Stan Musial of St. Louis, Willie Mays of New York and Hank Aaron of Milwaukee. These three had been leading at their positions before the Cincinnati deluge.

There still will be five Redlegs in the starting lineup in St. Louis July 9 — catcher Ed Bailey, second baseman Johnny Temple, shortstop Roy McMillan, third

"They were leading even with out the avalanche from Cincinnati," said Frick.

Last year, too, five members of the Redlegs were named on the starting team. That caused some grumbling and there were scattered calls for a revision in the manner of selecting the team. But nothing was done.

"I don't question the honesty of the poll," Frick said in explaining his action. "But something had to be done."

Phillies Blasted By Redlegs 7-1

Crowe, Bell Smash Roundtrippers

CINCINNATI (AP)—George Crowe, and Gus Bell got bumped from the All-Star Team Friday, but they are the men of the hour to Cincinnati Redlegs fans.

They belted two homers Friday night, accounting for four runs in the Reds' steamroller 7-1 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Crowe, Bell and teammate Wally Post had been selected for the All-Star Game by fans' ballots, but were ruled off by Commissioner Ford Frick. It would have put Redlegs at eight of nine starting positions.

Pitcher Hal Jeffcoat was the third big man of the game Friday night, thrifflily giving up only four hits, belting a two-run home run of his own and doubling home the final Reds' marker.

The Reds touched three Philadelphia hurlers liberally, including a recent teammate, Warren Hacker, traded to the Phils earlier in the week.

Crowe's three-run poke in the third inning and Jeffcoat's big homer in the fourth plus four other hits chased starter Don Cardwell in the fifth and Hacker took over.

The former Redleg quickly gave up Bell's big swat, but yielded only two other hits before Seth Morehead displaced him in the seventh and finished the game.

Morehead's one trouble spot came in the eighth when the Reds punched over a final run on Roy McMillan's single and Jeffcoat's productive double.

The Redleg righthander had brought McMillan home once before, when Jeffcoat lifted his homer over the leftfield fence.

Crowe's big blast, that sent the Reds to a 3-0 lead, was preceded by a walk to Johnny Temple and Gus Bell's single.

Jeffcoat went all the way for his seventh victory this season, striking out two men and walking five.

The Redleg hurler had trouble getting started. He walked two men in a row in the first inning and put two more on in the second on a hit batsman and a single. But both times he got the next man to hit into an easy out to end the inning.

The only Philly marker came on Harry Anderson's home run into the rightfield bleachers in the sixth inning.

In today's game, second of four scheduled with Philadelphia, Tom Acker is slated to oppose Robin Roberts.

AAU National Decathlon Led By Pratt

KINGSBURG, Calif. (AP)—Grueling competition in the AAU National Decathlon enters its second and final five-event phase tonight with former Manhattan College hurdler Charley Pratt heading the list.

The 23-year-old from Palmyra, N. J., ran the fastest 100 meters ever in Decathlon competition—10.4 seconds—and also flashed a winning time of 48.3 seconds in the 400 meters to hike his total to 4,342 points at the halfway stage.

That gave the lanky speedster a 215 point lead over Bob Lawson, University of Southern California junior from Aberdeen, Wash. Lawson's best events were the broad jump which he won at 23 feet 9 1/4 inches under the complicated scoring system and the high jump which he tied with Oregon's Dave Edstrom at 6-3.

Tonight the all-around track and field performers open with the 110-meter high hurdles, a favorite for both Pratt and Lawson, and then follow with the discus, pole vault, javelin and 1500-meter run.

Edstrom ranked third after the first five events with 4,070 followed by Jim Klein and Howard Smith, both of the Los Angeles striders with 4,015 and 3,702 points, respectively.

Ken Kelley, Brooke Army Medical Center, San Antonio, Tex., wound up sixth among the 23 participants.

The 100-meter dash by Pratt, who is now with the army at Fort Dix, N. J., was one-tenth of a second faster than Rafer Johnson ran it when he set his world record of 7.985 points in 1955. It was three-tenths above the world record for the distance in regular competition.

A couple of high school youngsters drew crowd interest. Sixteen-year-old Dixon Farmer of Orinda, Calif., was eighth overall and Bob Giombetti of West Bend, Wis., was eleventh after the first five events.

Iron Liege, Barbizon
Head Field In Race

CHICAGO (AP)—Kentucky Derby winner Iron Liege and his stablemate Barbizon head a field of class 3-year-olds today in the $20,000 added Laurence Armour Memorial—a preview of the $100,000 Arlington Classic on July 13.

Iron Liege will be making his first start since winning the Jersey Stakes at Garden State May 25. The Calumet star has been sidelined with a leg injury but has trained impressively.

Barbizon, the 2-year-old champion of 1956, is rapidly proving to be the disappointment of 1957. He has won one minor victory in eight starts this year.

Challenging the Calumet entry are such top 3-year-olds as Fred W. Hooper's Greek Game, Better Bee, Jet Colonel, Mister Jive, Manteau, Etionian, Osceola and Ezgo.

Two Calumet Farm entries, Amoret, and Princess Turia, Willie Hartack up, were favored.

Rex Barker Finalist In Golf Tournament

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—The third time could be a charm for handsome Rex Barker Jr., a U.S. Walker Cup selection and a finalist today in the 36-hole title match of the 6th annual NCAA Golf Championships.

The 21-year-old Houston University senior from Amarillo, Tex., had two big obstacles to hurdle in his quest for the collegiate title: A stocky sophomore from Little Hamilton College at Clinton, N.Y., Ward Wettlaufer, and a mountainous Broadmoor course whose 6,897 yards are marked by treacherous fairways and sharp breaking greens.

Three times in as many years Barker has been as far as the semifinals in this tourney. Last A&M, 5 and 3.

The pudgy, dark haired easterner shot an eagle, eight birdies and had only two bogies in beating first Ernie George of San Jose State, 3 and 2, then Donnell Adams of North Carolina, 5 and 3.

Barker bettered par by two strokes Friday in eliminating his quarterfinal opponent, Peter Nisselson of Yale, 2 and 1. He then beat Marcelino Moreno, the sentimental favorite from Texas A&M, 5 and 3.

Wettlaufer, also 21, admits he is shooting perhaps the best golf of his career, the 205-pounder from Buffalo, N.Y., was 8-under-par in the 31 holes he needed Friday to win his quarterfinal and semifinal matches.

McDonald Blasts Steel Price Boost

PITTSBURGH (AP) — U.S. Steel Corp. could reduce steel prices $6 a ton instead of raising them by that amount and still enjoy the greatest net profit year in its history, the president of the United Steelworkers said Friday.

David J. McDonald thus joined some senators and Robert Anderson, nominee for secretary of the treasury, in protesting the steel price boost.

U.S. Steel said the price increase is necessary to offset what it says is a 21-cent hourly package pay boost for its employees under a three-year contract with the U.S.W. Both the wage increases and price boosts are effective Monday.

McDonald claims the package wage increase amounts to 15.5 cents. He said U.S. Steel seeks to hide its fabulous growth of profits by minimizing them, exaggerates the wage increase and seeks to pin the blame for higher prices on steelworkers and their union.

He added:

"Based on the corporation's own figures of total employment and hours worked, and of shipments of finished steel found in the most recent financial report issued, U.S. Steel could absorb the cost of the wage increase for the remainder of 1957, reduce steel prices by $6 a ton instead of raising them by that amount, and end 1957 with the greatest net profits after taxes in the history of the corporation."

Republic Steel Corp., Lukens Steel Corp. and Inland Steel Co., also have announced similar price increases. Others in the industry are expected to post increases much the same as set by U.S. Steel, the world's largest producer and industry pace-setter.

RAPIST RULED SANE

CINCINNATI (AP) — Fred Brock, 26-year-old filling station attendant convicted of raping a 33-month-old girl, is mentally immature but legally sane, officials at Lima State Hospital reported to Common Pleas Court Friday.

The youngster was raped Dec. 8 while her mother, with whom Brock had been keeping company, slept in another room.

The earth is nearer the sun in winter than in summer. The Northern Hemisphere has its summer when the earth is about 3,000,000 miles farther away from the sun than at any other season.

Attorney General May Issue Ruling On Point System

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Officials are wondering today if it might take a ruling by the attorney general to determine the effective date of Ohio's new penalty point system for motorists who violate traffic laws.

Statehouse attorneys apparently disagree on the effective date. Senate clerk Thomas E. Bateman, an attorney, says legislative rules make it clear the act became operative when Gov. C. William O'Neill signed it last Saturday.

But Sen. Gordon Renner, a Cincinnati attorney and former House speaker, isn't so sure. Renner says the Ohio Constitution requires two separate votes in each house on emergency laws to make them effective upon signing by the governor.

The point system law passed last week on the Legislature's final adjournment day as an emergency measure, to make it effective without waiting for expiration of the 90-day period required for regular enactments.

The House, with only token opposition, took separate votes on the bill and the emergency clause. Senators on a single roll call voted unanimously for the measure that assesses most traffic violators from two to six points for each conviction or bond forfeiture.

Twelve points within two years gives courts the right to suspend driving licenses for up to a year. State Motor Vehicle Registrar George C. Braden already has started assessing points against violators reported by courts since last Saturday.

If the law is operative as an emergency, the points will stick, attorneys say. But if it doesn't become operative for 90 days because of the single Senate vote, they say the points assessed during that period might be challenged successfully in court.

Disarming A-Bomb Routine Task, Say Five Who Did It

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—Five men who disarmed a dud atomic weapon say their ticklish task was "nothing more than a routine job."

The five were dealing Friday with a nuclear device with the potential blasting power of about 10,000 tons of TNT.

But in a news conference Friday night the disarming team insisted that it was simply "the reverse of arming the device." Heroics were missing during the conference.

"Just out of breath" was the way Forest Fairbrother described his feelings when he reached the top of the 500-foot detonation tower after a 35-minute climb equivalent to scaling a 50-story building.

Fairbrother and Bernard (Barney) Rubin of the University of California Livermore Radiation Laboratory and Dr. Robert Burton of the AEC Sandia Laboratory at Albuquerque, N.M., went to the top of the tower on the disarming mission after the device failed to fire yesterday at its scheduled hour of 4:45 a.m.

Walter Arnold of Livermore and Edward R. Tucker of an instrumentation company remained at the base of the tower, checking instruments.

All five emphasized that disarming is automatically the duty of the arming party. They armed the weapon in the early morning hours yesterday. Dr. Burton has armed at least 15 nuclear devices at the Nevada test site.

"We have to have electrical power to detonate a device," Burton said. "We knew the power was off at the control point and off at the monitoring station." The latter is two miles from ground zero.

Burton did the actual disarming by disconnecting two power cables at the point where they entered the weapon.

The trio who climbed the tower carried 15 to 20 pounds of gear, each. After disarming the weapon, they waited atop the tower until an elevator was replaced so they could ride down.

This was the third misfire here. The others were on Oct. 19, 1951, and May 20, 1952.

The AEC said yesterday's failure occurred because a crane used to remove the elevator from the tower severed a connection of the power cable leading to the device.

A force of 1,900 Marines in trenches 4,000 yards from the tower, 17 technicians in a steel-and-concrete bunker 2,000 yards from ground zero and 150 observers at the news observation point about eight miles away were left in stunned silence when the failure occurred.

The AEC said yesterday's dud can not be fired until July 10.
